WEDNESDAY, 28 APRIL – The National Trust for the Cayman Islands held its annual 5K Earth Week Fun Run sponsored by PriceWaterhouseCoopers on Sunday, 25 April at the Dart Family Park on South Church Street. 173 people turned up at 7:30 a.m. to run and walk past national trust sites of interests including two National Trust historic sites, Dr. Roy's Ironshore and Fort George.

"I really enjoyed the run and I was pleased to see so many runners of all ages and nationalities take part in support of the National Trust of the Cayman Islands," Said Sherri Francis, Senior Manager of Audit and Assurance Services at PriceWaterhouseCoopers. "As most participants would agree with me, I consider the island to be my home and am proud to be part of this fund raising event."

Performance winners received Green Spheres, hand-blown at the Glass Blowing Studio, for the first, second and third male and female runners. The male and female who finished the course last received a green hand-blown snail. The first boy and girl under 12 received National Trust goodie Bags.
